Get Mrs. Mary Arnold Into Court—
Mother of Five Children Given Chance to Mend Her Ways.

Mrs. Mary Arnold of Valley street extension was arraigned before Judge W. A. Arnold in police court Saturday morning on a charge of breach of the peace. She entered a plea of guilty. Chief E. H. Richmond informed the court that at 11 o'clock Friday evening the accused had some words with her husband and a disturbance resulted. Mrs. Arnold produced a revolver and pointed it at Mrs. Sheehan, who lives in the same house with the Arnold. Another neighbor called an officer because all the people in the vicinity were afraid that the woman might shoot someone. The accused had been drinking. Mrs. Arnold was asked if there was anything she cared to say, and she replied "Not a word." The court called her to the stand and attempted to get at the bottom of the affair. She said she was 32 years old, had been married seventeen years and was the mother of five children. She claimed that she was unable to get along with her husband, who was always nagging her and the children and finding fault with everything she did. Judge Arnold then called the husband and questioned him relative to the trouble at home. Arnold stated that his wife did not come home until after 7 o'clock Friday evening and was not in very good condition at the time, as she had been drinking. He said that she had attended the carnival three evenings during the week and did not come home until after 11 o'clock. She was accustomed to go out nights in a good deal.

Concerning the revolver, it was an old one that his boy had found and was not loaded and was useless. Mrs. Arnold was again called and asked if it was true that she stayed out nights, as her husband had stated. She admitted to the court that she did go out nights, but only to visit the homes of neighbors or to go to see the pictures. She said she did not drink much, taking only an occasional one when with a neighbor, and then only a glass of beer. Friday she did not have three glasses and they made her sick. Judge Arnold told her to quit drinking and try and do what was right.

The court continued the case for six months and placed Mrs. Arnold on probation. The final disposition of the case will depend entirely upon her future conduct.

Probation Did Him Good.
Joseph Hamel was before the court Saturday morning. He was arrested three months ago charged with assault and at that time fined $5 and costs. He was placed upon probation for three months.

A favorable report was made by Probation Officer W. C. Lyman of Hamel's conduct and Hamel's case was discharged by the court.

Hoyt, on Saturday afternoon rendered their finding in the matter of the claim of Mrs. Hoyt's sister-in-law, Mrs. Pauline B. Smith for service rendered the deceased as a housekeeper and a nurse. Mrs. Smith's claim under the will makes a total of $500, the alleged agreement that Hoyt was to pay her for services by a suitable bequest in the will. At death it developed that that bequest was only $100.

Plainfield surely has grown since the "last six years."

WARREN D. CHASE'S COMPANY

Involved in Federal Suit Against the Horsehoes' Trust.

There is local interest in the suit that the federal government has instituted against the horsehoes' trust because of the fact that the action, which is a civil one, involves the Rowe Calk company of Hartford, controlled by Warren D. Chase, of Plainfield, and Mrs. C. H. Chase, of Main street, who was formerly of Danielson.

Attorney General Woodruff makes injunctions against the Master Horsehoes' National Protective association, its officers and manufacturers of drilled and shod horsehoes, of an unlawful nature. Mr. Chase's product coming under the latter head. The injunctions are desired by the government to prevent the association and others indicated from continuing an alleged combination and conspiracy to confine the sale of the articles dealt in in this country and Canada to horsehoes and prevent their sale direct to horse owners.

It is alleged that verbal agreements between the association and manufacturers of drilled horsehoes and adjustable calks provide that such manufacturers will market their product through hardware jobbers under a sales contract which empowers the manufacturer to fix the price at which the jobber sells to the retail dealer. The government asks the annulment of the agreements and the prohibition of the alleged discriminations and practices.

Mr. Chase's company is involved in the suit only in an incidental way, so to speak. Whatever the outcome of the suit, will not hamper the big business now being done by the Rowe Calk company, for should the injunction asked for be granted the concern would, of course, continue with the provisions of them, though the selling plan might have to be revised.

Mr. Chase's company does business in all areas of the United States and Canada that are within what is known as the "front belt."
